Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 07 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
A largely dry night but chilly in the east.

This Evening and Tonight:
Winds easing through the evening. Cloud building from the west with odd spells of drizzle for Cornwall and Devon in the early hours. Feeling chilly under clear skies in the east with a rural grass frost and isolated fog patches. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Monday:
Cloud continuing to spread east through the day as it also turns milder. Patchy rain affecting western areas in the afternoon as a breeze also picks up. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Cloudy with outbreaks of rain over the course of Tuesday and Wednesday. Drying up on Thursday with some brightness potentially developing later on. Remaining on the mild side.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.